Immigration Feature of Day In House of Commons

CURFEW RULE ON SPEECHES STOPS FORKE

Minister Calls For Co-operation From Provincial Governments

OTTAWA, Feb. 7.—For the first time the 40-minute rule for speeches on the level of a minister of the crown, Hon. Robert Forke, minister of immigration, following opening preliminary, had continued from debate on the address. For forty minutes Mr. Forke had been talking on the subject of "Immigration." He was about to embark further when his last sentence expired and his speech came to an abrupt end.

Mr. Forke had emphasized the desire to get into the spirit of provincial governments in the matter of immigration. "I believe," he said, "the solution of many of our difficulties will be reached when we have the hearty co-operation, assistance and advice of our different provincial governments."

Activities of his department, Mr. Forke proceeded, had been increasing in the face of the fact that the immigration of the people able to settle on the land and engage in agriculture.

For the rest of the afternoon and evening sessions, debate wandered from side to side of the house, covering the usual multitude of topics. In the evening, Mrs. Agnes McPhail urged that Canada, through her representation on the council of the league, should make a strong stand against arms and ammunition.

MORE ABOUT CORRIDORS

ter, let us, Sir, accept the offer of the Federal government at the session without further delay. If any change in the Federal legislation takes place, the province would still reap the benefit of it, but in the meantime, Sir, let us pass this legislation, and let our debt to those who have helped build up this province, and in the building, Mr. Speaker, had been unable to lay aside sufficient to adequately care for themselves in their declining years.

It was true, Mr. Speaker, that the Premier, of a T.E.A. political convention, had been able to manage to get passed a resolution in the matter of the province, but Sir, as three provinces, already recognizing their obligations in the matter, while Alberta is negotiating and still negotiating, the mover and seconder of the motion from the speaker, had been unable to lay aside sufficient to adequately care for themselves in their declining years.

It was a well delivered and spirited attack Mr. Speaker, and "vice the ranks" of the opposition, but they were not to be deterred. Applaud the sentiment they could, Sir, but they would not, and with a real victory, Mr. Speaker, what the people of this province thought of a government that would not even shoulder its own aged and infirm members.

THE EYES OF DEATH REVEALED HER DUTY

Ruth took the kiddies to town. She withdrew from a joint bank account— which heretofore she had never dared touch—the sum of $5,000.00. Then arranging for the education and legal custody of her children, she proceeded to paint the town every colour of the rainbow! Stylish new outfits for the six of them—smart hair cuts, massages, marcel, perfumes—longed-for trinkets and toys—dinner at a fashionable restaurant—afternoon at the movies—room for the night at a swanky hotel—breakfast in bed, yum, yum—then . . . back to the farm late the following day in a glorious new car! Honk, honk—cheerio—here we are! But—Omgosh!—the face on "Paw" was enough to peel the bark off to a tombstone!

Then arranging for the education and legal custody of her children, she proceeded to paint the town every colour of the rainbow! Stylish new outfits for the six of them—smart hair cuts, massages, marcel, perfumes—longed-for trinkets and toys—dinner at a fashionable restaurant—afternoon at the movies—room for the night at a swanky hotel—breakfast in bed, yum, yum—then . . . back to the farm late the following day in a glorious new car! Honk, honk—cheerio—here we are! But—Omgosh!—the face on "Paw" was enough to peel the bark off to a tombstone!
